Council backs Daily, raps grant

The grants issue

by ELLEN ROSEMAN

The Students' Council passed a motion last night to condemn the Quebec government for its recent grants policy.

The motion, as presented by Ken Cabatoff, said that "a government which does not make available the funds necessary to achieve and maintain a high level of academic excellence is not acting in the best interests of its citizens."

"Therefore", the motion continued, "be it resolved that the McGill Students' Society condemn the Quebec government for its refusal to make available to McGill University the funds necessary to maintain the above-mentioned academic standards, and request that it do so immediately."

Council passed the motion unanimously, and Chairman Sholzberg said that it would be given as a press release to all English and French news media.

The motion was also supported by Council members because they said that they wished to discuss it with the Senate at this afternoon's joint meeting, scheduled to take place at 4 pm.

Miss Sholzberg said that since the meeting was only supposed to last for two hours, not too many matters could be discussed. However, she would try to bring up the above-mentioned grants motion, also the seating of students on Senate committees, and the report by the administration on Student Discipline.

Arts and Science representative Morris Goldberg said that he had several recommendations to make about the student discipline report. He suggested that a committee be set up to study the discipline at Royal Victoria College, and that discipline in the men's residences should be put in the hands of the House Committee.

In this session also, Council passed the $1500 budget required by TEQ, Travaillleurs Etudiants de Québec, and ruled that handbills printed by candidates for elections at their own expense and not under Students' Council auspices, were illegal.

EUS MEETING

An EUS Open Meeting called by Richard Karper to accept the Treasurer's and President's report and any new business which may arise, will be held in Room 204 of the McConnell Engineering Bldg at 1 pm today. All Engineers are asked to attend. Seventy-five are needed to make a quorum.

Aid committee rejects claim

The Student Consultative Committee on student aid has denied that it refused to co-operate with the government to draw up a plan for student aid and rejected Education Minister Gérin-Lajoie's February 11 dismissal of the committee.

In Le Devoir, Gerin-Lajoie said that the students themselves disbanded "to demonstrate their disapproval of a measure submitted to the Committee by the Ministry". This measure is the new government plan for student aid, which would change the present system, in which loans supplement bursaries, to one in which loans will be given first and then be augmented by bursaries.

La Presse said that the students boycotted the consultative committee in protest against the government proposal... "If the committee was dissolved, it was because the students themselves caused its dissolution by refusing to participate."

The student members of the committee were never officially told of their dismissal nor did they discontinue participation in the work of the committee. In fact, they reported their recommendations for 1966-67 to the Minister of Education on January 13 and asked for a meeting of the committee.

While they were waiting for the government officials to announce their availability for the meeting, the Ministry of Education issued its proposal for a new loan system to function under the aegis of the Student Aid Service.

The Minister's representative, Hector Joyal, did not convene the Consultative Committee to discuss the government plan. The student representatives on the Committee are opposed to the proposal.

Victor Rabinovitch, McGill's representative, said, "The plan being considered by the government will definitely mark a step backward from our present student aid level. However, our opposition still does not prevent us from co-operation with the government and trying to develop with them another plan which would forward our goal of increasing student accessibility to Quebec universities."

Last August, the Committee undertook a study of the needs of students and was to report its analysis to the Minister of Education by December. At a meeting November 26, it decided to delay its report because of the problems of limited time and divergent opinions of the committee members.

The government took this to mean that the students would not participate and did not convene a meeting of the committee. The students are still waiting for government word about the meeting it proposed on January 13.

American support called for today

The McGill division of the Committee of Canadian Students Supporting American Policy in Viet Nam will hold its first meeting today at 1 pm in the Union Ballroom.

This group invites "the 56% of McGill students still supporting American action" to voice their convictions by attending this meeting.

The Committee hopes "to make known on the national level the fact that 70% of Canadian students still support the actions of the United States and their allies." It plans to achieve this by sponsoring a petition to be signed by at least 6,000 students in the Montreal area which it will present to Prime Minister Pearson, currently with the march on Ottawa to be held by SUPA.

THE Daily issue

by JUDY REBICK

Patrick D. MacFadden is still Editor-in-Chief of the McGill Daily.

After a six-hour meeting described by MacFadden as "an epic confrontation", and by Law representative Bob Vineberg as "Custer's last stand", Council defeated a motion asking MacFadden to retract statements made in an article in last Thursday's Daily called "The Flint-Eyed Heroes".

MacFadden had stated his intention to resign if the motion was passed.

Throughout the debate the outcome seemed uncertain, as Council members frequently changed their opinions. Several amendments were presented and defeated. The final vote was 12-8.

Maximilian Ferro, BArch 6, had signed a sworn statement denying allegations made about him in the article. In a personal letter to MacFadden, printed in yesterday's Daily, he demanded "a full retraction and apology for the unwarranted and libelous attack made upon my character." A separate letter to Council resulted in last night's meeting.

MacFadden kicked off the marathon debate with a rambling forty-five-minute speech in which he defended the article point by point against Ferro's sworn statement. He denied that the article stated:

- that Ferro was anti-Semitic.
- that Ferro was anti-French-Canadian — "It only said that his attitude to French Canada was 'less than kind'."
- that Ferro was a leader of the Extreme Right.
- that Ferro had a rapport with members of the underworld. Ferro's statement said that the word 'demi-monde', used in the article, was synonymous with underworld — "In my own experience", the word suggests a kind of sub-culture usually connected with the artistic or bohemian sector of society. The use of 'demi-monde' was in many ways complimentary. It is surprising that Mr. Ferro should find it necessary to deny connections with the underworld."
- that Ferro had spoken to Gilles Grenier, Vice-President of AGEUM — "What the Daily did say was that he was in contact with Grenier or AGEUM President Michel Pelletier. I will ask Mr. Ferro: Is it or is it not true that Grenier got in touch with a member of the Committee For A Rational Approach To UGEQ At McGill five times? The burden of all those conversations was what can be done about McGill's second referendum." This point was discussed at length in later debate by Ferro, MacFadden and Council members.

More of the same

Last night's SC meeting was like old times. Much of the material covered was of the traditional kind and the audience responded enthusiastically. It is not often that a free show of this kind is readily available on campus.

Nevertheless, the three-ringed circus aspect of this year's SC meetings should not be allowed to hide the fact that for the most part the level of discussion of the new Council remains consistently high.

The case against this journal was, as it happens, defeated. But we do not think that this is any reason to gloat. A newspaper which is consistently criticized is better in the long run than one which is read and assented to; there has been no shortage of criticism this year.

We would like to point out that the article in question at last night's meeting was written in good faith. Mr. Ferro's abilities as a spokesman for a point of view which in some part is shared by many students on campus are beyond doubt. We do not share his particular analysis of the situation in Quebec; but he is an able and competent man who, during the course of his election campaign, will be able to persuade many to his point of view.

As to the question whether this journal's attack on his ideas might harm his campaign, Mr. Ferro need have no worries. He may take consolation in the fact that everything we have supported this year has been soundly trounced. On the other hand, lost causes are the only kind worth supporting.

Of money

The Lesage government's grant to McGill is yet another example of the current attempt by a right wing administration to replace an English Canadian elite with a French Canadian elite.

In an election year, this kind of tactic is obviously a popular one. It is unfortunate that the main opposition to the Liberal government comes only from Union Nationale, a party whose support has dwindled to one or two newspapers and a few television stations.

The one-party system in Quebec is already with us. All the more dangerous then that the government sees its campaign in terms of denying much-needed funds to a university, whether French or English.

LETTERS

Government Funds

Dear Sir:

If the way the provincial government doled out university grants is a sign of a certain trend, then I think that McGill, as a university, is headed for the doldrums. Aside from prejudice, the question arises as to who is going to benefit in the long run.

Certainly not the community of Montreal and surroundings in particular, and the province of Quebec and the rest of Canada in general. McGill University has turned out some fine scholars and professional people, and the theses written by certain of our staff surely do attract widespread attention. The fact is that if McGill cannot, due to financial difficulties, continue on a high enough standard to keep its name in good standing, it is the city of Montreal, the province of Quebec, and the country of Canada who are going to lose out. This seems a useless price to pay, especially in face of the reasons given by Mr. Gerin-Lajoie for the university's disproportionate grants.

Some people might answer by saying if we had joined UGEQ we would be in a better position. I tend to disagree, taking into account the esteem of student unions in the eyes of our politicians. It surely could not be due solely to our grants from the National Research Council, because U de M is also subsidized by the NRC, and their grants from the government have climbed six times as fast as ours.

There is definitely something wrong. If our leaders in Quebec cannot be made to feel the need of our university, and the jeopardy that the present situation places us and the community in, then perhaps some contact can be made in higher places, Ottawa for instance. Maybe they can be made to see the shame if McGill were allowed to degenerate, and lose its place among the top rungs of fine schools, all due to some very vague dealings indeed.

MacFadden refused to reveal his sources on grounds of journalistic ethics, but asserted his willingness to defend the article in court.

Ferro was then given leave by Council to speak. In his sworn statement he had said "I have repeatedly voiced my distaste for RIN separatism, and have opposed McGill's participation in UGEQ partly on the precise grounds of UGEQ's Quebec nationalist tendencies."

I share your (Suzanne Langlois B.A. 4) concern over the lack of a "Convocation Activities Chairman for 1966". However I would like to clear up the fact that the new S.C. representatives on the EAP Committee were just instated at the end of January. They were left with a pile of unprocessed application forms and immediately set out to clear up the unfinished business left by Bob Skanes past EAP Chairman.

The present EAP Chairman Frank Farago has worked damn hard to clear up this back log and should in no way be associated with the lack of "— efficacy of the Student Council regarding the co-ordination of campus activities".

Undoubtedly, concern alone will not solve the present problem. Since only 1 application out of a possible 2,000 graduating students was submitted. It would seem likely that what was termed the "— efficacy of the Student Council" should be termed the apathy of the student body.

Banta Act of the North

Dear Sir:

This letter is referring to a statement by UGEQ which appeared in the Gazette, Tuesday morning, in which it was stated that McGill's grant was justified on the grounds that French universities had to catch up to McGill. In other words, we should all go back to using outdoor plumbing in order to let some Aborigine tribe catch up. With such narrow thinking on the part of our French confr res I thank God that our slim majority voted NO in the referendum. UGEQ supporters may say, "See! if we had stayed in UGEQ we would have gotten a better grant." I feel that if we have to buy into UGEQ to get a good grant, I still will not bribe or bow down to anyone. We must realize that we are being discriminated against. It is very unusual for a group of English speaking caucasians to be discriminated against for reasons other than religious ones and we must not stand for it.

Words To Live By

Dear Sir:

A man once said "For me to live is Christ." A student at McGill says "For me to live is...?"

W. Kambulow, B.Eng. 3

MacFadden later denied that the article suggested that Ferro's apartment was full of prostitutes.

Ferro also said that he knew nothing about Grenier's having called a member of CFARTUAM five times. "I am not aware that Grenier got in touch with a member of the committee, but I'm not Grenier so I couldn't say for sure."

In a confused and confusing debate, Council discussed whether MacFadden had violated the constitution; whether MacFadden had damaged Ferro's reputation; whether Council should set up a committee to study the matter further; whether MacFadden should be forced to reveal his sources; whether Council was capable of judging libel; whether possible libel was the main issue or irrelevant to the discussion; and whether 'demi-monde' did indeed mean underworld.

Council found itself in a difficult situation. It was confronted with Ferro's sworn statement on the one hand and the Daily article on the other. Divinity representative Glenn Christianson pointed out that a newspaper article was equivalent to a sworn statement. Council members had to accept one or the other of the statements. They made their choice.

Arnie Aberman, representative from Medicine, said that the member of CFARATUAM who had received the phone call from Grenier was Lionel Chetwynd, who disassociated himself from

Mayday! Mayday! — Literary Society

The Literary Society is dying, and only immediate and drastic measures can save it.

The 178-member Society held a meeting Monday night to elect an executive for the coming year. Fifteen (15) people attended.

Since, according to the Society's constitution, at least one third of the membership must vote in any election, president John Fekete decided to have another go at it tomorrow night, after the Society's presentation of Olivier's film Hamlet.

The positions of president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, publicity chairman and three others are open.

Fekete said yesterday that "no executive might be preferable to one as irresponsible as this year's. Moreover, unless an intelligent, hard-working executive can be assembled, it might be better to have the L.S. die now, in glory, than have a group of idiots kill it week by week. Better nothing than mediocrity."

The Literary Society this year presented a programme every week, including films, dramas, lectures, discussions, readings and performances by noted Canadian actors Eric Christmas and Leo Ciceri.

Law course seen as cultural study

by DANNY FREEDMAN

A visiting professor at McGill feels that law courses should be offered to undergraduates as a cultural subject.

Dr. A. L. Goodhart, a former Master of University College, Oxford, and editor of the Law Quarterly Review for forty years, said yesterday at a press conference that at the University of Paris there are 15,000 students taking law courses as part of the undergraduate curriculum.

"I would especially like to have law taught to people who are going into politics", he said. "If anything, it teaches you that there are two sides to every issue".

Dr. Goodhart said that the "angry young men of yesterday are now middle-aged and have disappeared". However, he noted that the position of youth today is much more important than it was before.

"In general, young people are responsible and more interested in public affairs", he said.

Dr. Goodhart also mentioned that "there is a growing law-abidingness on the international level" and that an international law system is bound to happen "sooner or later".

When asked about international law institutions such as the International Court of Justice and the UN, he said that they are ineffective, but "useful to have — as examples".

He concluded that people expect too much of an international law system and that our first aim should be a society of nations in the true sense of the word "society".

FILM SOCIETY

The meeting scheduled for last night will be held tonight at 7:00 P.M. in room 469 of the Union.

President of the Students' Society

TARO ALEPIAN

PLATFORM

1) To initiate a responsible and unbiased student government. 2) To participate moderately in the affairs of Quebec and Canada. 3) To promote individual affiliations with as many French-speaking universities as possible — on a more concrete basis. 4) To introduce an active UGEQ Chapter at McGill, not representing McGillians as a whole but only the individual members. 5) To improve the existing lamentable conditions at the Placement Service (both on a summer and permanent basis). 6) To exploit the possibilities of (a) A Post-Graduate Student House, and (b) An International House. 7) To establish continuity in the struggle for a 'stabilization of fees'. 8) To greatly improve student-Executive contacts throughout the year. 9) To re-evaluate the application of funds in an effort to make McGill the most public-spirited and social university in North America.

PENSKECH

Taro is one of the many McGillians who has had to work his way through college, and as such is closer to the fight for a stabilization of fees and improved summer employment opportunities for McGillians.

A brilliant student, he soon won countless scholarships and is at the head of his class — Chemical Engineering 4.

He has served on many committees, and is currently a member of the executive of the Phi Epsilon Alpha Engineering Honours Society.

As a worker, Taro aims for perfection and cannot tolerate incompetence. He is trustworthy and has integrity (a great asset in present-day McGill).

Committee for the Candidate

KEN CABATOFF

PENSKECH

We, a group of concerned students, asked Ken Cabatoff to run for President because he has the proven knowhow to set McGill's internal affairs in order and the understanding requisite for reestablishing good relations with French Canadian students.

Cabatoff, a McGill National Scholar, was Manager of Radio-McGill when it became Radio-TV McGill, and chairman of the CUS Committee, responsible for increasing its membership from 1 to 65. Elected to the External Vice-Presidency last year, Cabatoff founded the Information and Public Relations Bureau, Student Services Committee, University and Pre-University Affairs Committees, Social Development Committee, and Human Rights Committee; these have given McGill a highly respected name in Canadian student affairs.

PLATFORM

Cabatoff pledges (1) such innovations as a Legislative Assembly to amplify the voice of students in policy-making and assure representativity of the policies adopted; (2) emphasis on imaginative activities appealing to presently uninvolved students; (3) continued involvement in social and political questions.

Cabatoff believes that students have come to realize that, as citizens in a democracy, they do have some control over the society they are a part of. In the university, this means they have some right to determine what is taught and how it is taught, using such measures as course critiques and representation on university committees. Outside the university, it means that students have the same right to make their views known to government as do chambers of commerce, professional associations, labour unions, or any other board grouping of citizens.

Committee for the Candidate

MAXIMILIAN FERRO

PLATFORM

1) The Students' Council must guarantee to every student an atmosphere of the utmost intellectual, political, and ideological freedom. 2) The role of the Student Executive is to focus student interest through information and debate, and to organize all student activity by unbiased cooperation within council. 3) A dynamic and sweeping program of multi-level joint involvement with French students will be initiated as a positive alternative to political participation in UGEQ. 4) Forums must be held to increase our social awareness, and after due debate, Council will ascertain and effectively make public the division of opinion. 5) Immediate plans must go forward to welcome Expo visitors to our campus throughout the summer of 1967. 6) Opportunity for participation in the Students' Society will be increased by regular Open Meetings, frequent and extensive printed information, and active encouragement of individual contributions and suggestions to a responsive student government. 7) In a Council motivated by service to the student, the seating of the Women's Union would not be questioned, for several programs are organized each year of particular interest to the girls on campus. 8) The Residence Council needs support, not interference.

PENSKECH

We, the Committee, feel that Max Ferro has proved his leadership abilities by successfully opposing the presumptuous behavior of this year's Executive.

We urge that he now be given the opportunity to evolve the hardworking, service-motivated, supra-political Council that we need, and to use his bilingual ability to encourage the kind of personal French-English friendship that will enable the individual student to better understand our mutual aspirations.

Committee for the Candidate

JIM MCCOUBREY

PENSKECH

Jim McCoubrey is a fourth-year Commerce student who will enter a Master's program in September. He has a record of proven accomplishment: Executive Chairman, Winter Carnival; Treasurer, Freshman Reception; Secretary, Scarlet Key; Special Events Co-Chairman, Meet McGill; Secretary, Inter-Fraternity Council; and a member of the Students' Athletics Council. His administrative success has been recognized by the following awards: SAC Executive Award, Students' Society Bronze and Silver Awards, Felt Key, International Educational Foundation Award. Jim is a resident and native of Quebec. He is bilingual and hopes to make his career in this province.

PLATFORM

Jim McCoubrey does not believe that the Students' Council should continue to discredit those it purports to represent by presenting itself as the personal preserve of the power clique. He does not deny that the function of Council is to formulate policy, but neither does he agree that such policy should follow the whims of incumbents rather than the views and best interests of the student body.

Jim McCoubrey will represent these views. He stands for: 1) Effective internal administration. 2) Restatement of McGill's obligation in the community. 3) A responsible, representative student government. He believes that the channels of communication between the administration and the Students' Society must be reopened. He feels that projects of benefit to students such as on-campus employment and discounted air-fares should be introduced.

Jim McCoubrey invites your questions regarding his platform. He asks your support for his program to restore the prestige of McGill University.

Committee for the Candidate

GERALD SOLOMON

PLATFORM

Since membership in the Students' Society is compulsory it should work for the benefit of all students. Since not all students share the same political views, the SC should not involve itself in political affairs. Campus political clubs should be given complete jurisdiction over all such activities. In this way every political opinion would have an equal opportunity to be aired.

In order to provide a more representative council, Solomon advocates:

- a) Proportional and increased representation
- b) A Students' Council ombudsman

The SC's relationship with the Union cafeteria catering service should be that of employer rather than mother-in-law.

The course evaluation committee should be expanded and given greater power over ALL years.

Abolition of CHILDISH rules on card playing in the Union.

Committee for the Candidate

Internal Vice-President

IAN McLEAN

PLATFORM

The emphasis on the external relations of the Students' Society has this year led to a corresponding decline in student services. It is the responsibility of the Internal Vice-President to run an efficient University Centre providing services equal in value to the twenty-five dollars which each student has paid to the Students' Society. I propose investigating further the possibility of a student co-op similar to that at Yale, a library for student publications and a streamlining of bookstore operations. Also needed is an investigation and overhaul of cafeteria services and termination of Burns Catering contract if necessary. The Board of Directors should be strengthened to provide more social events and better publicity for Internal Affairs.

PENSKECH

Ian McLean, a fourth year student in Honours Geography, is currently President of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society. Programs carried on by ASUS this year such as the Course Evaluation, Tutorial Programme, ASUS News, and the Speakers Programme are a direct reflection of Mr. McLean's organizational ability. He is presently a member of the Undergraduate Relations Committee, and has held positions on the Students' Athletics Council, the SIRC, and was a member of Redmen Basketball in 1964.

Committee for the Candidate

BERNARD MOSCOVITZ

PENSKECH

Bernie, a fourth year Arts student, has had wide experience in various campus activities for the past three years. In 1963-64, he began working for Old McGill in the advertising department. The following year he was Advertising Manager, and this year he is Managing Editor. He was also Chairman of Promotions for this year's Winter Carnival, and was Assistant Producer for the Red and White Revue. All these positions demand both responsibility and organization, and we feel that Bernie has demonstrated his ability to handle such duties.

PLATFORM

We feel that it is the duty of the Internal Vice-President of the Students' Society to make sure that interest in campus affairs is both created and sustained throughout the academic year. To ensure such interest, we feel that it is essential that the Internal Vice-President be someone who is familiar with the workings of campus organizations, and who has had some experience in dealing with the Students' Council on behalf of these organizations. Bernie is well qualified in both respects. We further feel that it is the responsibility of the Internal Vice-President to be at the disposal of all campus activities in the event that these groups encounter difficulties in the execution of their programmes. Bernie accepts this responsibility.

Committee for the Candidate

ALBERT RABINOVITCH

PENSKECH

Beginning as Chairman of the Photography Exhibitions in 1964, Albert was soon elected President of the Camera Club, holding that post for two years and earning a Students' Society Bronze Award. He has written for the High School Supplement and worked on the McGill Daily staff. Albert also holds the position of Armed Forces Editor of Old McGill '66, and is on the Managing Board of McGill Scene. Finally, he assisted with Combined Charities and acted as Lighting Director for English Department stage productions.

We feel that the candidate's accomplishments with the above organizations, plus numerous contacts with other groups more than amply prepares him for the portfolio of Internal Vice-President.

PLATFORM

In an effort to ensure maximal co-ordination of activities and full benefit of the potential of the University Centre, some of Albert's specific plans are: 1) Establishment of a Council consisting of representatives from societies of similar nature according to the following classifications: Science, International, Communications & Publications, Recreational. 2) Expansion of the "suggestion box" into an organized system for incorporating student talent and initiative into the management of their affairs. 3) Above all, efficient management and functioning of the University Centre.

We sincerely feel that the best interests of the students will be served by electing Albert Rabinovitch.

Committee for the Candidate

External V.P.

ARNOLD ABERMAN

PENSKECH

Arnold Aberman is a third medical student. A science graduate from McGill, he has been a university scholar throughout his years at McGill. He was Associate Editor of the Journal of the Canadian Association of Medical Students and Interns. This year, he was Chairman of the Lyman Duff Memorial Lecture. He now represents Medicine on the Students' Council. He is a member of Alpha Omega Alpha Medical Honour Society. Arnold Aberman is an able student with proven administrative ability and a keen interest in the welfare of the Students' Society.

PLATFORM

The central issue of this campaign is the scope and role of Student Government. I maintain that the function of Student Government is to (a) represent the student, and (b) to establish the framework and co-ordination of student activities. The Students' Society, as such, cannot pretend to speak for all its members on non-student political matters.

To this end, I propose the following program: 1) To initiate co-operation between regional universities on a club and society level. It is obvious that for meaningful relations to be established, not only must a handful of student leaders from each university know each other, but students in general should have an opportunity to meet one another.

Committee for the Candidate

STEPHEN SCHECTER

PENSKECH

We asked Steve Schecter to stand for nomination because his background in student affairs is unsurpassed. As Arts and Science representative to the Students' Council, Schecter has put forth constructive proposals, has represented the students on the Principal's advisory committee on student discipline, and was one of the few representatives to inaugurate open meetings with his constituents. An External Affairs Director, he has been Vice-Chairman of CUS, Co-ordinator of the National Affairs and Services Committees, co-chairman of the University Affairs Committee, author of the UGEQ Report and delegate to the UGEQ Congress and CUS Conference.

PLATFORM

Schecter believes that in a mass society like ours, democracy operates through the exertion of pressure on the government by various representative groups. He contends that in an age marked by conflict in international affairs and by rapid change in our own society in Quebec, it is essential, both for us and our society, that we students be heard. He firmly believes that McGill students are willing to speak out when we think our society lacks direction and foresight in its policies. Schecter, however, will not commit this campus to any policy, unless he is assured of both their knowledge of the issue and their approval of his stand.

WOMEN'S UNION

DIANE RICHER

PENSKETCH

A university scholar upon entrance to McGill, Di, a second year Science Student, is fully qualified to assume the position of internal vice-president of the Women's Union. She has participated in such campus activities as UNICEF, and the Red Feather Campaign, and has done volunteer work in a home for the aged. She has held positions on the McGill SUNAC sub-committee and research committee and is presently working on the Newman Club Social Committee. Because of her great interest in Student Affairs, we feel that Di can efficiently carry out the role of Women's Union Internal V.P.

Committee for the Candidate

JOANNE WILLIS

PENSKETCH

We feel that Joanne Willis, a University Scholar in Honours Psychology, is well qualified to fill the position of Vice-President of the Women's Union. As a member of the W.U. Executive, she has gained valuable experience. She was Co-Editor of the Cluebook and has worked on the Lounge Committee and Book Exchange. Her executive ability has also been proven as Secretary of the W.A.A. President of the Tennis Club and 3rd year rep to the A.S.U.S. Joanne has worked enthusiastically for Old McGill, Winter Carnival, Blood Drive and Campus Chest. Because of her efficiency, competence and experience, we feel that Joanne Willis has the organizational qualities necessary for this position.

Committee for the Candidate

CHERYL BUCKLAND

PENSKETCH

We feel that Cheryl Buckland, a second year Arts student, is highly qualified for the position of secretary of the Women's Union. the committee the day after the first UGEQ referendum. "He hung up five times," Aberman added. MacFadden countered that he found this hard to believe.

In his advisory capacity on Council, MacFadden criticized the motion on the grounds that it would set a bad precedent. "I don't think the Daily would be worth putting out ever again if we have to retract something the moment we begin to have some trouble."

"As for Maximilian Ferro," he warned, "he is conducting a presidential campaign. He is conducting it very successfully and he is fooling you all."

The meeting in the Ballroom attracted a crowd of several hundred students, most of whom stuck it out until the final vote was taken at 1:30 am. An electric atmosphere pervaded the hall. Council members lost their tempers frequently and outbursts from the audience were not uncommon.

Indians play host to SGWU cagers

The Basketball Indians swing into action tonight at 6:15 pm when they meet Sir George Williams at Baron Byng High School.

The Indians can no longer finish any higher than third place. In the teams' last meeting Sir George topped the Tribe 62-56. Sir George is in second place and has beaten powerful CMR. This allows them to challenge the Cadets for the CIBL championship.

The Tribe will be playing without the services of ace rebounder Larry Merrill. However Steve Fraid, the Indians' major scoring threat of late, will be in action, trying to raise his season's point production.

Squaws place fourth in hockey tourney

The Squaws placed fourth in the Intercollegiate Hockey tournament held last weekend at Western and the previous weekend at Toronto. The University of Toronto captured the championship.

In last weekend's action, the Squaws defeated Queen's 4-2, but lost to Western 3-0 and to McMaster 1-0.

In the Queen's game, McGill was led by rookie Pat Trapnell who scored a pair of goals. Sheryl Drysdale and Sue Snyder notched the other two goals.

Although the overall showing of the team was something of a disappointment, the girls did play well and showed that they do have the potential for winning. Several of the players will be graduating this year.

Indians end schedule tonight

by DAVE CARIN

The Indians round out the regular Jay Vee Hockey season tonight when they meet St. Joseph's Teachers College at 8 pm in the Winter Stadium.

St. Joe's is currently embedded in fifth place, one point behind Sir George Williams University, and will be giving it an extra effort to make the fourth spot. The Indians have second place locked up but will be out to extend their current winning streak and keep in form for their upcoming championship game against U de M next week.

Coach Ken Bellemare has had to jostle his lineup as winger Dave Gamble will not dress tonight. Instead Howie Smith will move up from defense to play on a line with Bill Seitz and Graeme Tennant in an effort to "put a few".

The team was skating well during practice on Tuesday, especially the formidable scoring scorer on the team with 23 points, including 16 assists.

Coach Bellemare rates him as one of the best forecheckers on the team and uses him liberally on penalty-killing assignments, as well as the power play. Keep his name in mind for next year's edition of the Redmen.

Right behind Stacey in the scoring department is Pete Kneeland with 22 points and Dave Roxburgh with 16. Simple arithmetic shows that these three together have accounted for the impressive total of 61 points.

Spirit good

One of the reasons for their continued success this year is the Indians' great team spirit. Team manager George Jay is the man most responsible for it. Jay has been a big boost to junior varsity sport in McGill. When he is not busy providing first-class luxury services to the team, he can be seen hollering encouragement at the top of his lungs.

Athlete of the Week

Last Wednesday, Bob Bourne set a new team record in the 500-yard freestyle, as he continued to show the fine form which he has displayed in recent meets.

In the CMR Invitational Meet several days earlier, Bob had captured two firsts and was a member of the winning relay team.

A third-year science student and co-captain with Eric Hailes of the Redmen swim squad, Bob appears to be following in his father's footsteps. Back in the 1930's his father starred for the Redmen

At present, Bob is training for the important OQAA championship this coming weekend, in which he will compete in the 200- and 500-yard freestyle. Bob feels that the Redmen are ready. "This year's team is potentially better than last year's but Toronto has also improved. It will not be easy to win".

Bob graduated from Westmount High and never swam competitively until he came to McGill. This is his third year on the squad. Bob has nothing but kind words for team coach Peter Rutherford and manager John Walmsley.

"The team was worried about starting the season with a new coach, but Coach Rutherford has worked us hard and this has produced results. And John Walmsley has done a great job. He's worked harder than anyone could expect."

Besides swimming, Bob also was a member of the water-polo team. He is an officer of Lambda Chi fraternity and has just been acclaimed chairman of the Students' Athletics Council for 1966.

Kerner, Bedford tallyCarabins top Redmen 6-2

by L. GERALD HAIMOVITCH

The hockey Redmen, reverting to their lacklustre mid season play, suffered a 6-2 loss to the U de M Carabins in an SIHL encounter played at Université de Montréal Stadium last night.

Yvon Paquette and Normand Gagnon paced the Carabin attack with two goals each while Raymond Richard and Alain Paquette chipped in with one apiece. Jim Bedford and Skip Kerner fired the Redmen tallies. Both players also picked up one assist.

The usual cause of Redmen setbacks, a lack of scoring finesse, once again proved to be the stumbling block for the Red and White. In particular, Rick Moore missed four "sure" goals on perfect setups, John Tibbits was stymied on two glorious opportunities.

"It's the same old story", mumbled a downcast Coach Dave

Copp, "we just can't put the puck in the net."

The defence, a strong point of late, must also bear a brunt of the responsibility for the loss. Rookie Courtney Pratt was caught up the ice on Gagnon's first goal and permitted Alain Paquette to skate around him on the final Carabin marker. The three other rearguards will not remember last night's effort among their treasured memories.

Carabins hustled

The Carabins, who have now won their last two starts, played a hustling brand of hockey and deserved the win. They checked and passed well and were able to consistently bottle up Redmen in their own zone. The tough defence, led by all-star Jean Jacques Granger and Raymond Richard kept Redmen forwards in check.

Redmen outplayed Carabins for the first half of the contest but their woeful shooting caused them to be on the short end of a 2-1 score. Carabins gradually wore down Redmen, scoring three goals in the final seven minutes of the middle frame. An exciting last period saw the teams trade goals.

Redmen close out their season this weekend as they meet Waterloo and McMaster in away games.

Scoring SummaryFirst Period

OQAA sportshorts

● Ron Murphy has been named head football coach of Toronto Varsity Blues, replacing Dalt White who retired after 10 seasons at the post. Murphy was line coach of Blues the past two seasons and previously held a similar position with McGill Redmen.

● A SIHL record was established when 328 minutes in penalties were handed out during Western's 7-4 win at Montreal recently. The game was halted at 17:12 of the third period after a brawl erupted involving all players on both teams.

● Windsor Lancers added to their list of SIBL team records when they blasted Guelph Redmen, 118-43, at Guelph, February 1. The 118-points total is most ever by a visiting team, breaking the mark of 114 set by Toronto at McGill last season.

● Toronto and McGill will vie for the OQAA badminton title at Queen's, February 25, 26. Toronto won the Western Division play-down while McGill took the Eastern sector.
